Lorraine Watry

Watercolors hold a fascination for me - the transparency of the paint allows a glow from the white paper, there is always something new to learn, or new to deal with because the water and color often have minds of their own.

Lorraine Watry is a Colorado contemporary realist painter of waterscapes, landscapes, and reflective objects. She illuminates qualities that often go unnoticed by the casual observer and her art is characterized by bright colors, dramatic light and realistic reflections. She likes the challenge of painting reflections in water, glass, and metal.

Lorraine has a Bachelor of Fine Art from the University of Colorado in Boulder. After college, she designed clip art at a graphics company for several years. She has worked with watercolor for 27 years. She taught watercolor at Pikes Peak Community College and currently teaches watercolor and drawing to classes and workshops online, at her studio, and other venues. She enjoys passing on her love of the watercolor medium to her students.

Lorraine has achieved Signature Status in the National Watercolor Society, American Women Artists, Rocky Mountain National W. S., Colorado Watercolor Society, and the Pikes Peak Watercolor Society and has paintings juried into many National and International Exhibitions. Lorraine's paintings are a part of many private and corporate collections. In 2020, Lorraine had a painting, juried into the NWS 50 State exhibition and won 2nd place in the wildlife category for the 1st annual Women in Watercolor international. She was filmed as a featured artist by "Colour in Your Life" an Australian art TV show.
